The urban agenda has changed in recent years from urban regeneration to urban renaissance. URBED has been involved in both the 1977 and the 2000 Urban White Papers and have acted as consultants to the Urban Task Force and the Urban Policy Unit. Other clients include the Joseph Rowntree Foundation, the Housing Corporation, Friends of the Earth, and the Building Research Establishment. This research is synthesised in the book Building the 21st Century Home - published by the Architectural Press - and in the family of reports Partners in Urban Renaissance based on work with 24 major towns and cities.
